International Summer School in Toronto Canada July 2010

We're very pleased to announce that from 7th-9th July 2010, Toronto, Canada, will be the venue for a vibrant International Summer School of Narrative Practice. This event is being co-hosted by Dulwich Centre, The Narrative Therapy Centre of Toronto, and Oolagen Community Services (a Children's Mental Health Centre).

As well as featuring a range of international presenters, this event will showcase the diversity of multi-cultural Toronto by having a special focus on culturally diverse forms of narrative therapy and community work. We are also interested in links between narrative therapy and the creative arts. Toronto seems a great place for such explorations!

We hope to see you in Toronto in July next year.

10th International Narrative Therapy and Community Work Conference

to be held in Salvador, Brazil
13th - 15th July 2011

Start making plans now! Salvador is a fascinating place and in July 2011 it will host a gathering of narrative therapists and community workers from around the globe. Many Brazilian practitioners are now engaging with narrative ideas in unique ways and we are so looking forward to this event.

Stay tuned to www.dulwichcentre.com.au for more information.
