

LETTER TO CORONA

Rio de Janeiro, May 9, 2020.

Dear “Coronga” Virus,

We were taken by surprise, we weren't prepared for it. We don't know how long you're going to be here, if it's going to affect the future, but you've amplified many problems in our society, especially social inequality, fear, longing... You brought more conflict, despair, insecurity, anxiety, loneliness and anguish to our coexistence.

Even though you are a very bad organism and have come with the intention of doing us harm, you've opened the eyes of humanity to some things that have been happening for a long time. We'll go through all of this, because we're taking precautions, studying and taking care of ourselves so that this reality may change in a near future.

We understand that life is a breath, since we can be well in one moment and in the other not be here anymore.

We acknowledge the opportunities we've had, such as the possibility of staying more in family, promoting unity, or even the possibility of seeing that the collective welfare is very important, since we stopped to think on how our attitudes are essential for the general good. Moreover, social and economic inequality became even more evident with your arrival.

Hasta La Vista, Corona Virus!
